Mobilization of People and Include them in Activities

Abstract: With the motto "Technical solutions of the local needs" for satisfying the key objectives of sustainable rural development under the KLEF initiative, we accomplished the social internship program for various batches where students were able to witness the ground reality of problems associated with their core branches and can work upon the solutions accordingly.

Introduction: Under the social internship program with a vision to utilize the benefits of technology for the rural community, Phase 1 has been executed for various branches which took place in two stages.

Induction program

Field visit

Under this Induction program, students were divided into various groups with a minimum of 10 and a maximum of 20 where 4-5 groups were gathered & instructed at a time simultaneously about the vision, need, execution, outcomes and impact of this project on the social development. Students were curious and motivated to realize that they can contribute to their community from their technical knowledge from their academic level itself. With this program, Students were able to understand their responsibilities and contributions needed for the development of their society with the implementation of their technical knowledge.

Under Field visits, Students have been seen as enthusiastic to experience the problems of rural villages at ground level with interactions with locals and collecting images and samples of materials required for their problem-solving procedures. We found our students quite disciplined and humble during their field visits and interactions with people. The community people seemed quite happy and surprised at the same time, seeing young engineers showing their interest and focus based on their real-life problems and solutions. Students returned with so much data and findings of problems prevalent in the community for their case study regarding their solutions which needs to prepare for phase 2 of this Social internship program.

Number of Students Participated : 199

Conclusion: This overall program was indeed helpful for students learning leadership skills while working in groups, realizing of responsibilities, roles and benefits of technical education in several- lifelike community problems for social development apart from personal career. Students participating with great zeal and realizing the contribution they can afford was the ultimate outcome of this phase-1 program.
